BALTIMORE, July 1, 1851. The Weather—A Fine Rain—Dead of Thomas D. Johnston: Esq.—Progress of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad—Cas, of Stephen Walsh—Old Hunkers Kouted, 4c. After three weeks of incessant drought, we were blessed last night and this morning with several reviving showers, not sufficient, however, for the waste of mother

extensive banking firm of Johnston & Lee, died suddenly yesterday afternoon, having been attacked with a paralys whilst sitting in the parlor of the Baltimore Club, surcounted and conversing with several friends. He was conveyed home, and died just as he was carried in his door. Mr. Johnston has died in the prime of life, having been only in the 51st year of his age. He is the second leading member of the club who has died the presecond leading member of the club who has died the pre-sent year. He was a brother-in-law to Madame Celeste, whose husband was a brother to Mr. Johnston. Madame Celeste's daughter was also recently married to the sen of Mr. Johnston, she having been raised in his family. Several of our companies of military are preparing to visit Washington on the Fourth of July. and take part in the ecremonies of laying the corner stone for the Capitol smargement, and to listen to the oration of the Hon. It is officially announced that the track of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad has been completed to the Piedmont station, twenty-eight miles west of Cumberland, over which trains, with rails and materials, are daily passing. On the 21st of July, this new portion of the road will be officially opened by a grand excursion from this city, after which the regular passenger and burthen trains will pass to that point, bringing Baltimore some three hoars nearer to Wheeling and the great West, than she has heretofore been.

The report of the case of stephen Walsh, in the Herald of Sunday, has created quite a furor among our Irish feilow citisens. They look with confidence to their countrymen in New York to furnish him with counsel, and every aid in defending himself from the demand of the British authorities. He is evidently too good and intelligent a feilow for the menial position of a soldier in a British barracks, or to be transported to fotany Bay. Governor Lowe yesterday sent up a batch of removals and appointments for this city, which have caused quite a stir among the democracy. Under Governor Thomas, all the offices were held by the old hunkers, and Governor Lawe has commenced a general sweep, giving their piaces to the young democracy. The best office in his gift, that of Inspector of Guano, he has given to his brother-in law, Dr. Polk.

Theatrical and Musical.

Bowgay Theatrical and Musical.

Bowgay Theatric.—The entertainments for this evening are as usual very attractive. They will commence with the nautical drama, entitled the "Ocean of Life," in which Mr. Eddy will perform the character of Mat Merriton, and Miss Wennys that of Isabella Morville. The next feature will be the operatic romance entitled "Massanicilo." Mr. E. Eddy as Massanicilo, and Miss S. Denin as Fenilla. The above pieces are excellent and must have the effect of crowding the house. To-morrow evening the members of the orchestra take their benefit.

Broatway Theatric.—Mr. Wilmarth Waller possesses undoubtedly many elements of a great actor, and he has made a decided impression upon the playgoers of New York. His Claude Melnotte is an energetic and an effective piece of acting. This evening Knowles admired tragedy of "Virginius" will be performed. Mr. Conway, a lending performer, will be the leilling of the occasion. Miss Anderton, a lady of admitted ability, will represent the character of Virginia.

Name's Games.—A great bill is effected for this evening by the celebrated Ravel Family. The performances will commence with the parinomime presente of "La Fette Champetre," in which the immitable artist, Gabriel Eavel will sustain the character of Lourdne. This will be followed by "Robert to Diable," and the whole will terminate with the counte pant mines of "Nicoleanus. This rejection cannot fait to draw a full house. Sawn's cellection of anatomical wax figures are being exhibited in this city for a very short season, previous to the collection being sold. If that exquisite production of anatomical art, the Moorish Venus, had no earthly use beyond the gratification of an intelligent and natural curiosity as to the wonders of the human structure, it would deserve to be classed amongst the most in teresting exhibitions of any time or country. It is a revelation of the internal mechanism of our bodies, such as no one elsewhere can obtain otherwise than by a painful inspection of the operations of the dissecting room. But the knowledge it lays bare of the areans of our physical organization is as valuable as it is curious, as useful as it is interesting.

Madame Anna Bisnor begins, next week, her coyage musical in Albany, and will visit afterwards Troy, Utica, Syracuse, &c. She has engaged the great and favorite buffo. ### The Opera at Castle Garden.

A very fashionable audience attended the performance of "Ernani" last evening; and never have we witnessed the enthusiasm of the lovers of the opera carried to a higher pitch than in the course of some of the scenes. Truffi made more than an ordinary impression by her in terpretation of the canatina, into which she threw much agreeable animation and many artistical beauties. Indeed, she sang throughout the opera to the entire satisfaction of the audience. Bettini created an impression in his favor which cannot be effaced by any vocalist among us. His splendid voice poured forth torrents of melody, and his style captivated the public. Marini also produced a powerful sensation, and his opening aris produced a powerful sensation, and his opening aris was vociferously encored. Beneventane shared in the general triumph making the whole performance one of the greatest treats of the season. To-night "Anna Biolena" is to be performed, with the gitted Bosio, the p-werful contralto, Caroline Vietti, Miss Whiting, Marini, and Lorini. With such vocalists to give effect to the opera, thousands of persons ought to be present to appreciate the production.

THE CASE OF THE DESERTER FROM THE BRITISH

ARM.'

July 1.—Mr. Commissioner Bridgham has not yet delivered his decision in the case of Stephen Walsh, the deserter from the British army. It being a matter of very great importance, the Commissioner is devoting his meantime we may announce, for the satisfaction of the friends of freedom, and for the information of her B. M.

Minister, that it is Mr. Bridgham's intention to deny the application of Sir Henry Bulwer, and to discharge Walsh from arrest.

The Newark Burglars.—On Monday afternoon, the Newark burglars George Shields and George Thomas, together with the wife of Shields, were conveyed to Newark for trial, on the charge of forcibly entering the jewelry store of Mr. A.
